ABOUT

Tour to Uros Floating Islands

“DISCOVER THE UROS PEOPLE’S TIMELESS LEGACY”

Step into the world of the Uros people, who have thrived on Lake Titicaca’s floating islands for over a thousand years. Ingenious and resilient, they built their reed islands as a refuge from invasions. Today, their unique culture endures through traditional fishing, hunting, and craftsmanship, offering visitors a captivating glimpse into an ancient way of life on these serene waters.

“EXPLORE THE TIMELESS UROS WAY OF LIFE”

The Uros people thrive on floating reed islands, skillfully crafting their homes and boats from totora reeds. Their daily life revolves around fishing, hunting, and crafting, reflecting a deep connection with their environment. Community life is rich with tradition, unity, and mutual support, while vibrant cultural practices like music and dance bring their heritage to life.

“SAIL ON TRADITION: RIDE A TOTORA REED BOAT AROUND THE UROS ISLAND”

Experience the charm of Lake Titicaca with a serene ride on a traditional totora reed boat. Glide across the sparkling waters and admire the floating islands, all while witnessing the Uros people’s skillful craftsmanship. This unique boat ride offers an intimate view of Uros culture and a deeper appreciation for their way of life, combining scenic beauty with cultural insight for a truly memorable adventure.
